Animus goes beyond pure gameplay entertainment: we believe that games can cause deep reflections about our existence. The character in a game is a facet of the player in a different universe from what he is used to. It was from this perception that Animus emerged. Have you ever noticed how life is like a game? We depend on rules and different visions to survive in this universe; just like in games. Expand your vision of reality. Create your own universe. Reinvent yourself.

Life is a game.
